UPCOMING EVENTS

~ Spring Break: March 19th-23rd ENJOY!

Professional Development: -H.B.

Spring is always such a time of renewal. This weekend, we were able to spend some time planting four new trees and a lot of bee-friendly wild flower seeds. I am really looking forward to seeing them “spring” up from the ground! The bees are working so hard right now with everything going into blossom. With the upcoming rain, we may have a fruitful, productive yield yet!

With the end of the third quarter just four and a half days away, students have some work ahead of them in order to finish off the quarter strong. The office team will be meeting again to identify our top students who need interventions and support. I know there have been more Steps lately, and we want to make sure we are supporting teachers in every way that we can in order to ensure you can focus on teaching and leading students in a positive manner. I love how we all communicate with each other about what we can do to support those who need the most.

Our active shooter training on Monday should be interesting, and I am excited about the conversations we can have as a team once we have all attended. I welcome the prospect of looking at the systems we have in place with a fresh eye and being able to find even more ways to keep our campus safe. While we proactively have many plans in place, we can never be too prepared to handle several different types of emergencies. If you haven't lately, take a couple of minutes to review the emergency plans posted in each room. Speaking of a fresh eye, if you have not had a chance to check out the new Sequoia Hawks website, take a look at sequoiahawks.org. If you see something that needs to be changed, please let me know, and we will make it happen!

I want to wish each of you a wonderful Spring Break, and I hope that you are able to take some time to refresh, renew, and relax with those you love. As you know, the fourth quarter will go by quickly with testing and all of the fun activities and events we have planned! It is hard to believe that we are already almost done with the third quarter, and that it is already mid-March!

It is such a privilege and an honor to work with such a great team, and this year has been particularly smooth. Let's all stay focused on “Believe to Achieve” and finish out the year strong!

Make it a great week!
